Disrupt and Rewire: How Brain Innovation is changing Europe

The European Brain Council and beLean.net are pleased to launch the first Brain Innovation Days, set to take place on 13-14 October 2020 in Brussels. Participants will be able to attend the event on site and online.

Brain disorders are on the rise: 1 in 3 Europeans will live with a brain disorder at some stage in their life. In parallel, brain science and innovative solutions for treatment are booming. However, the question remains: what is currently working for patients and their quality of life? We still have a way to go and the accelerating brain innovation revolution needs to be tackled in a collaborative manner. This is what the Brain Innovation Days stand for.

Under the theme “Disrupt and rewire: How brain innovation is changing Europe”, this first edition will explore how the actors involved are finding new ways to work together, what exists and can still be done to support their cooperation, and what breakthroughs can lead us to better brain health.
